

CALL FOR PARTICIPATION

CRITICAL DEVELOPMENT

FIRST SESSION

November 2, 10am to 1pm.

Library Room, Harry S. Truman Institute for the Advancement of Peace
The Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Mt
Scopus

Invited speaker: Bob Nameng [Africans for Peace, South Africa]

WHAT IS IT?

Critical Development is a new platform that aims to explore alternative and multicultural views and approaches to development, while seeking to overcome mainstream biases and myopia. This will be done through the questions of “what does development mean?” and “how do specific contexts influence development theory and work?”.

HOW DO WE PLAN TO ACHIEVE THIS?

By drawing from non-conventional theories both from the Global North and the Global South. Through case studies and experiences, we will engage with known and lesser-known frameworks, such as post-development theories, intersectionality, environmental conservation, critical pedagogy, critical race theory, among others.

THIS INITIATIVE IS HOSTED AND SUPPORTED BY:

for more information, write to: critdevresearch@gmail.com